CITY OF DUBLIN.

Dublih Weekly Freeman, Sept. 2.
A conference in reference to the Improvement of dairy cattle was held on Wednesday at the Ballsbridge show buildings, when a scheme of the department of agriculture on the lines of the proposal of the County Kilkenay committee was adopted. ittee was adopted. --

The annual meeting of the county councils general council was held on Friday under the chairmanship of Sir Thomas Esmonde. A long agenda was gone through, and important discussions took place in reference to the relistribution scheme and the Catholic concernity.

Friday was the last day of the hors show. The weather was most unfavorfille, a downpour of rain continuing from early morning until long after the four of closing, which was 4 o'clock. Nevertheless, the show was visited by considerable aumber of persons, and the jumping competitions went on in spite of the rain.

A moving of the Landowners' convention was held on Friday in Dublin. The Duke of Abercorn, K. G., presided. A private session was held, and in the afternoon a public session took place, at which resolutions were passed reing to the delay in completing sales or the land act of 1903 and the question of the registration of title, and earnestly appealing to all Irish land corners to continue to maintain the Irish Land Owners' convention.

On Thursday at the Northern police court in a case in which a dairykeeper was summoned for selling milk which was deficient in fat. Mr. Wall questioned Sr Charles Cameron closely as to the cause of the deficiency, in particular, whether it was due to the unusual drought this season. Sir Charles replied that it might be, and the magistrate said as there was some doubt with reference to the cause the defendant was entitled to the benefit of it, and the case was dismissed.

The ceremony took place in the throne room of Dublin castle. The names of the recipients of the medal are: John Coleman, Thomas Rochford, Klernan Fitzmatrick, Peter O'Hara, John Rush, nairick, Peter O'Hara, John Rush, harles Mier, Martin Lambert, Christo-pher Kelly, Edward Blake, John Mur-phy and John Whelan.

On Tussday the city coroner, Dr. Louis Byrne, held an inquest at the morgue on the body of Patrick Wird, a bidger at 9 Bridgefoot street. It appeared that on last Saturday night another loager named Christopher Concily had a quarrel with his wife, and struck her. Ward interferred, and received a blow from Concily which knocked him down, his head coming against a kitchen grate. He was able to walk upstrais, and talk to another loager for about half an hour, but on attempting to go to his own room fell again. He was helped to bed, but was found dead next morning. Medical evidance showed effusion of blood on the brain from a fracture of the skull, which caused death. The jury found a verdict to that effect, but could not say which fall caused the fracture.

About half past four o'clock on Saturday afternoon, Constable 91 E found a gentleman in an unconscious condition on the steps of a house in lower Baggot street. At the time he was being supported by Private Honrigan, of the army medical corps, and a man named James M'Loughiin. It was discovered that he was Mr. James J. Black, of Westminster, Stillorgan. He was conveyed to the City of Dublin hospital, but on being examined there by Dital, but on being examined there by prison Dr. Holles, was found to be dead. As it appeared that death was due to many threal causes, the coroner did not deem it necessary to hold an inquest.

National Foresters Stoned.

A dispatch from Derry on Sunday ays: A destardly attack was made tonight on a special train conveying the Irish National Foresters' excursion to Derry after spending the day in the town of Donegal. The party were carried in two specials on the Donegal railway. The first special, when pass-ing Ballyheather bridge, near Done-mana, an Orange district in Tyrone. at 9 o'clock, was raked with stones and other missiles over its entire length. Showers of stones fell upon the roofs of the carriager, while the windows of several compartments were wrecked. Two passengers sustained se-vere injuries, having been struck in the face, and when they landed at Derry platform blood was flowing coplous ly from their wounds. A number of others sustained minor injuries by broken glass. When the train strived at Derry the Foresters' committee immediately reported the outrage to the police, who saw the injured passengers and inspected the damaged carriages, in one of which a stone perrit a nound in one of which a stone nearly a pounin weight was found. The Waterside constabulary, learning the second ex-cursion train would soon reach Done-mana, wired the police there, apprising them of the attack. This probably pre-vented another onslaught, inasmuch at the second train got past Ballyheather and Donemana without being assailed About 1,000 persons participated in the excursion. Great indignation is felt at the savage conduct of the miscreants who stoned the train.
